Save the VCA

I AM a music student at the Victorian College of the Arts. This week we learned that our facilities office, where we hire equipment, will close and its staff will be fired. It is part of the University of Melbourne's re-structuring. I feel this is the quiet and underhanded beginning of the destruction of our beloved course. We have fought so hard to show the university the importance of preserving this amazing college. Now, it is beginning to dissolve it. If Melbourne wants to retain its abundance of world-class players, we need to save the VCA.
